Report No.: 1

Subject: Paternal grandparents of client Delia Gibarosa and Joseph Biondo.

Objective:

More information on the life of Delia Gibarosa including her birth location, parents from Italy, their immigration to America, and filling in contextual information about their life.

- Focused research on Paternal Grandmother, Delia Gibarosa, who was likely born 1914 in Kansas City, Missouri to Antonio Gibarosa and Vita [possibly Civita]. Research will include her parents, their immigration from Italy with the goal of identifying ancestral origin likely in the Provincia di Trapani, Sicilia.
- Important information to consider is Delia's father-in-law, Mariano Biondo may have been from Santa Ninfa, Trapani, Sicilia.
- Client has expressed that if there is a brick wall with Delia, allocation of time will move to research to Paternal grandfather's lineage.

Background summary:

Client reached out for research services because she would like more information regarding her paternal grandparents and great grandparents from Sicily before their sibling takes a trip there. They had previously done some research using Ancestry.com and has DNA tests on Ancestry and 23andMe. Her father has DNA tested on 23andMe.

Client had previously hired a genealogist, but no research report was given in connection to that research project. According to client the research they personally did on Ancestry was primarily on their grandfather, Joseph Biondo, and his parents Mariano Biondo and Rosa [unknown maiden name].

Upon reviewing information from the new client form and Ancestry tree this is our starting point for paternal grandparents.

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] [redacted for privacy of living person]

Delia Gibarosa was likely born on 28 January 1914 in Kansas City, Missouri to Antonio Cibarosa and Vita Solanto.⁴ Delia lived a short life and did not leave much of a paper trail. She had attended school as a young girl and by 1930 at age 16 no longer attended.⁵ In 1940, she was employed at Coronet Manufacturing Company.⁶ Delia married Joe Biondo on 1 January 1941 in Kansas City, Missouri.⁷ Together they had one child. Delia died at 30 years old on 3 May 1944 of tuberculosis after a month and seventeen day stay at the hospital.⁸ Her son was only two years old at her death. She lived with her parents in Kansas City, Missouri until she was married.

Delia's parents immigrated to Kansas City from Castelventrano, Trapani, Sicilia. Antonio Cibarosa was born on 28 August 1878 in Castelvetrano, Trapani, Sicilia to Niccolò Cibarosa and Adriana Cassini.⁹ Vita Solanto was born on 28 February 1881 in Castelvetrano, Trapani, Sicilia to Salvatore Solanto and Vita Lupo.¹⁰ Antonio Cibarosa and Vita Solanto were married on 27 April 1901 in Castelvetrano, Trapani. The only living parent at the time of marriage was Antonio's mother, Adriana Cassini.¹¹ Antonio's birth register lists his mother as "Dorotea Cassini" which was likely recorded erroneously by the register considering his mother appeared in person for his marriage publication in 1901 and was recorded as Adriana. Antonio was occupied as a sailor or seafarer in 1901. Vita's father, Salvatore Solanto had died in the northern coastal town of Balestrate, outside of Palermo, Sicilia.¹²

Antonio Cibarosa arrived in Kansas City, Missouri before his wife. Vita traveled to America, departing the Port of Palermo on 17 May 1906, and arrived in New York on 7 June 1906. She was going to join her husband at 410 Cherry Street in Kansas City. She had $12 to her name and no ticket to her final destination.¹³ Shortly after Vita arrived, Antonio Cibarosa, was probably naturalized as an American citizen on 26 June 1906 at the Circuit Court in Jackson County, Missouri.¹⁴

Vita was a housewife and was not reported as having any other occupation.¹⁵ They lived at 537 Charlotte Street for a majority of their life in America. Vita Solanto Gibarosa died on 30 January 1939 at St. Mary's hospital in Kansas City, Missouri.¹⁶ Her funeral services were held Thursday 2 February at A. Sebbeto chapel and Holy Rosary Church.¹⁷ She is buried at St. Mary's cemetery in Kansas City. Vita's death certificate incorrectly lists her mother as Vita Di Maggio. Antonio Cibarosa gave the information about Vita's parentage, birthdate, and birth place to the clerk and he likely misremembered considering Vita's mother was deceased at the time of their marriage in 1901—38 years prior to her death. Her birth was listed as 28 February 1883 in Castelvetro, Trapani, Italy. The place is accurate, but the date is two years after her birth.

Antonio Cibarosa was a self-employed ice dealer in Kansas City. He registered for the World War I draft on 12 September 1918 in Jackson County, Kansas City. He was a stout man, 5 feet 4 inches tall, weighting 170 pounds. He had a dark complexion, brown eyes, and dark brown hair. He was illiterate typically signing documents with an X.¹⁸ His surname transformed to written "Gibarosa" from the correct Sicilian spelling of "Cibarosa".

Cibarosa is pronounced "chee-bah-ro-sah" in Sicilian dialect the "chee" sounds like "gee" because Antonio was illiterate, he apparently did not know how to spell his surname and when

14. Request for original documents have been made to National Archives in Kansas City and 16th Circuit Court of Jackson County, Missouri on 28 March 2024 both via email. Missouri State Archives was contacted with a response that repository does not have naturalization records.

an American clerk or enumerator recording information heard the surname Cibarosa they wrote it as Gibarosa.

In 1930 and 1940 Antonio's household reportedly had his brother, Giovanni "John", living with him, Vita, and Delia. Giovanni "John" Gibarosa may have been born between 1862 and 1872.¹⁹ Giovanni "John" may have never married or naturalized as an American citizen. His death is currently unknown. Antonio may have been the last born to Niccolò Cibarosa and Adriana Cassini. Niccolò was reported as 57 years old in 1878, possibly born around 1821. Given how old Niccolò may have been at the time of Antonio's birth it is possible that Adriana was younger.

When Antonio registered for the World War II draft on 26 April 1942, he stated he was born 29 August 1878 in Castelvetro, Trapani, Italy and listed the person who would always know his address as Rosa Nagar—his wife had already passed away.²⁰ Antonio Cibarosa died on 18 July 1942 at the Kansas City General Hospital. Joe Biondo, Antonio's son-in-law, was the informant on his death certificate. Antonio's parents are listed as Nick Gibarosa and Delia Cassidi.²¹ Apparently Joe had been told this information by either wife Delia or Antonio. Antonio's birthdate was incorrectly reported as 29 August 1881, three years and one day difference from his actual birthdate, 28 August 1878. His funeral was held on Tuesday 21 July 1942 at Sebbeto Funeral home and service at Holy Rosary church. He was survived by daughter, Delia Biondo, brother Battista Gibarosa, and grandson Marion Anthony Biondo.²² Battista may have been Giovanni Battista Cibarosa.

Antonio Cibarosa was in his mid-twenties when he made his way from Sicilia to America settling in Kansas City, Missouri where he was self-employed for his lifetime there. He died at 63 years old of malignancy of the kidney, probably cancer or a tumor, with no autopsy, widowed, and having one child that would perish only two years later of tuberculosis. His grandson was only months old when he passed away.

Vita Solanto had traveled on her own to America for a better life. Both of her parents were deceased by the time she was 20 years old. Vita died at the age of 58 of lobar pneumonia and never got to meet her grandson, as her parents never met their granddaughter.

There were two other Italian immigrants living with them during this enumeration. John Gibarosa was reported as 65 years old upon enumeration possibly born about 1865 in Italy and was apparently single and possibly never married.

Analysis: Before being able to formally and legally marry Antonio Cibarosa and Vita Solanto had to make a marriage publication or marriage contract. This is similar to an America marriage license. They were required to present copies of their birth registers, death registers of parents that were deceased when the publication was made. Typically, living parents would also appear before the civil registrar to consent or approve the marriage. In this case the only living parent was Adriana Cassini, mother of Antonio. Additional information regarding the deaths points to where they died and where to find their death registers. The unique piece of information is that Salvatore Salanto died in Balestrate, a coastal town north of Castelvetrano, but his wife Vita Lupo died in Castelvetrano. No death dates are given on the document.

1901 Solanto Vita

Analysis: Antonio Cibarosa's birth register listed his parents as Niccolo Cibarosa and Dorotea Cassisi [Cassini?]. He was born on 28 August 1878. His father was 57 years old at his birth. Niccolo's occupation is difficult to read. Because Niccolo's age at the time of Antonio's birth Antonio may have been the last born. The house that he was born at was scalo Marinella. Scalo translates to "stopover". Maps may help identify the area or neighborhood. It may no longer exist by this name. There is a handwritten annotation that shows this Antonio Cibarosa married Vita Solanto in 1901.
